Dear Pat:

1. I refer to the exchange of correspondence between you and General LeMay last December wherein we requested the services of [redacted] as a consultant; a request which you very kindly acted upon to our mutual advantage. The progress so far made by [redacted] in the investigation of new and untried means of extending our unconventional air capabilities has been encouraging, but is still incomplete. Therefore I request that his period of temporary duty with the Air Force be extended until approximately 15 June under the existing arrangement.

Dear Dave:

In reply to your request of 11 July 1963 concerning the extension of [redacted] as an Air Force Consultant, this will confirm extension of his temporary duty with the Air Force on an indefinite term basis. If his services are required beyond the end of calendar year 1963, I suggest that we review the terms of his detail during December.

Dear Pat:

25X1

[redacted] of your agency was assigned to temporary duty with my staff January last to undertake a group of related Air Force projects for which he is uniquely qualified. These projects have to do with the experimental application of some new technical and tactical techniques to the accomplishment of the Air Force mission.

2. It now appears that if the experimental program is successful, or even partially so, it may well contain elements suitable to [redacted] and therefore of interest to your agency. I shall see that the appropriate liaison is maintained.

25X1

3. [redacted] assignment originally was for 90 days, later extended by letter and informally by telephone as the program developed. It is difficult to assign a definite date for the completion of the program since it depends in part upon meteorological conditions and in part upon the ability of contractors to meet production dates. I therefore request that [redacted] assignment be continued sine die until the critical elements of the program reach a point of resolution.

25X1

4. I appreciate your help in this matter.

Sincerely,

DAVID A. BURCHINAL
